When you looked into the mirror last ight and saw those gray strands in our hair, didn't you secretly wish for way of getting rid of them? There are two methods. You can ange the color by chemical staining ith dwe, or bring back the natural plor with Hay's Hair Health. Hay's Hair Health. Hay's Hair Health performs this iracle with the aid of air—harmless, at absolutely sure and effective. It ontains a wonderful element which, hen applied to the hair, causes that if to come back to its natural color the action of the oxygen. Every strand of gray now marring our appearance will disappear—must sappear. Others will be kept from onling—your whole head of hair will a strong, lustrous, beautiful—and no its will know you are using anything. The makers of Hay's Hair Health, or Philo Hay Secialties Company, of ewark, N. J., have directed all the ruggists who sell this preparation in themond to return full purchase on very bottle that does not please and tisfy. From their report of sales it sens that a big majority of gray alvaed folks in this community have solved to look young again. 25c, 50c ad $1.00.—Advertisement.

Members of Acca Temple Patrol are working hard perfecting the arrangements for the bazaar, which will be given at Masonic Temple December 7-12. It is proposed to make it one of the most elaborate affairs of the kind ever given in Richmond. The general executive committee, composed of Joseph F. White, H. C. Foster, C. Ridgway Moore, E. C. Kohler, Aaron Jacobs and James H. Price, is being assisted by several committees, the chairman of which follow: Nathan Simon, publicity committee; John G. Kolbe, hall and decorations: H. B. McNiven, nightly entertainment committee: George H. Keesee, dancing committee: S. E. Oberdorfer, tickets: James T. Hill, country stores: John Hirschberg, Juvenile booth: Hugh Foster, Juvenile booth, No. 2: Bernard Hobbs, fruits and flowers: A. W. Baker, Ice cream, and Mrs. G. Jeter Jones, fancy articles.

These and subcommittees are planning entertainments for the week, which will be augumented by the music of a first-class orchestra. There will be coupons attached to tlekets, which will be valuable, and patrons are asked to retain the coupons until the last night of the big event.

The proceeds of the bazzar will be used in advertising Richmond on the Patrol's western trip next July, when Aca Temple goes to the annual convention at Seattle, Wash. Stops will be made in several of the western clites, and a side trip to San Francisco will be made. From all of the elites along the line of route comes the enco will be made. From all of the cities along the line of route comes the encouraging news that a hearty reception awaits the Richmonders, who last year royally entertained yisiting Shriners while they were passing through Richmond en route to the convention at Atlants.

One May Acquire Education by Correspondence School, but Can't Get Religion That Way—Twenty-One Applicants for Admission Received.

PORTSMOUTH, VA. November 14.—
Bishop Kilgo's address to the candidates received by the conference was the most interesting feature of togay's session of Virginia Methodists in Monumental Church here. Twenty one applicants for admission on trial were received to-day, a record for the Southern Methodist Church.

The bishop's address took the form of a sermon on the work of the ministry. He tole his hearers that the idea that it is possible to breed saints is not to be accepted unquestioned; that it is such a new experiment the Methodists will hold on to the old plan of conversion.

"You can get an education by correspondence school," he said, "but you can't get religion that way; you must said."
